

Barber Osgerby asymmetric

Barber & Osgerby, 2013

Description

Asymmetric sofa by Barber & Osgerby for Knoll, part of the Sofa Collection.

The Sofa Collection includes an armchair, two-seater, three-seater and four-seater, asymmetric and L-shape sofas, ottomans and stools.

Edward Barber and Jay Osgerby presented this project, their first for Knoll, at the Salone del Mobile 2013, as Knoll celebrated their 75th anniversary.

Each piece of this extensive range contrasts and balances the soft (curves) with the architectural (stitched seams). As Barber & Osgerby put it: "Given a sofa's scale and prominence in a room, we felt the pieces should be formally balanced and calm, expressing their character through details."

Each piece sits on distinctive cast aluminium feet that slide between its upholstered elements, connecting them together.
Cast aluminium legs in a chrome finish or lacquered in red or black. More powder coated available on request, please enquire.
Upholstered in fabrics and leathers of the collection.
Legs have adjustable nylon glide Inner frame is 7/8" plywood
Seat, back and arms feature various foam densities for enhanced comfort
Elastic webbing seat suspension with foam-supported sit through feature at the cushion breaks
Pinched topstitched seaming GREENGUARD Indoor Air Quality Certified®

Please note: pricing example does not include the loose cushions, for the Sofa Collection loose cushions, please see the ranges below.
