

Dodecal 3D 2018 calendar

Ric Bell, 2017

Description

Dodecal 3D 2018 wooden calendar by Ric Bell.

Dodecal derives its name from a fusion of the words 'dodecahedron' - a solid form with twelve facets - and 'calendar'.

A beautifully simple idea executed with precision craftsmanship, Dodecal is a 2018 calendar in the form of a solid wooden polyhedron with twelve faces. The days and dates of each month are laser-engraved on each facet of the geometric wooden form.

This tactile, three-dimensional desk accessory is beautifully crafted and finished, making it as appealing to hold in the hand as it is intriguing to look at. Personalise it by highlighting the dates that matter to you and your loved ones.

Each Dodecal is made from sustainably sourced materials and hand-crafted using a combination of traditional woodworking techniques and digital technology.

Made from solid American cherry, laser-engraved.

Designed and made in the UK.

Please note: limited stock of this sought-after seasonal item is available, so place your order early to avoid disappointment.
