

Tired Man Armchair

Flemming Lassen, 1935

Description

Tired Man Armchair by Flemming Lassen for by Lassen.

Winter Offer - Purchase the Tired Man armchair in Sheepskin Moonlight with browned oiled legs and receive a free footstool.

Offer runs from 1st November until 31st December 2019. Please contact our showroom for details here.

Flemming Lassen designed The Tired Man in 1936. The highly organic form and grand scale was extremely progressive for its time. Flemming Lassen worked with Arne Jacobsen and was a leading exponent of Functionalism in Denmark.

The Tired Man chair was re-launched in 2015 at the Stockholm Furniture Fair and reflects an important landmark early modernist seating. A matching footstool is also available; please enquire for details.

Available upholstered in By Lassen's selected sheepskin, leather or nubuck or in fabrics from the following collections: Kvadrat Hallingdal 65, Kvadrat Rime, Kvadrat Steelcut Trio, Kvadrat Colline, Bute Tree, and Jazz.

Fabric swatches may be viewed by clicking on the links above or at our shop or showroom.
