

Indoor watering can

Haws,

Description

Indoor copper watering can by Haws.

In 1886, John Haws adapted the design of a French made waterpot (or can as they are now called) and designed a can with perfect balance. Whether full, half full or empty the can could be used without undue strain to the operator. To this day, the original design has not been altered in any major way.

Made from galvanised copper with an all brass watering rose.

Haws Watering Cans are guaranteed for up to 10 years against manufacturing defect (not accidental or wilful damage, or ordinary wear and tear).

1litre capacity.
