

Plane wall light

Tom Dixon, 2015

Description

Plane wall light by Tom Dixon.

Described by Tom Dixon as "an exercise in expressive minimalism", the Plane collection of lights feature a planar brass-plated steel frame which intersects with a double-layered white glass sphere. The collection comprises a range of pendant lights and a table and wall light.

The Plane wall light has a glass sphere held in place by a series of geometric brass planes.

Please note wall fixings are not included.
