

Hotaru Marker light

Barber & Osgerby, 2016

Description

Hotaru Marker paper pendant light by Barber & Osgerby for Ozeki & Co Ltd.

In collaboration with twentytwentyone, leading British designers Barber & Osgerby have created a new range of paper lighting drawing on the heritage of Japanese lantern-making. The Hotaru collection represents the perfect unison of traditional craft with an enduring aesthetic that is as modern as it is timeless.

Named after the Japanese word for 'firefly', the collection is manufactured by Ozeki & Co Ltd, a celebrated Japanese company dedicated to making paper lanterns since 1891. Ozeki have previously collaborated with numerous Japanese artists and designers and worked with Isamu Noguchi on the production of his Akari light sculptures.

"We have always loved the simplicity and beauty of Japanese paper lanterns and have often talked about designing them. In 2012 whilst Edward was travelling through central Japan he visited Ozeki, the famous paper lantern manufacturer to learn more about the craft. After a conversation with the owner of the family run business this project was born." Edward Barber and Jay Osgerby.

The Hotaru range is constructed using traditional techniques and materials, with translucent Mulberry bark washi paper stretched over a bamboo structure that describes a bold contemporary form.

Marker is the third design in Hotaru lighting family, launched at the London Design Festival in 2016. the design continues Barber & Osgerby's exploration of pure sculptural forms and is scaled to complement the two sizes of Buoy and Double Bubble (available from the product range below).

Supplied with black lacquered steel ceiling rose, black Bakelite E27 lampholder and 2m black cloth-covered cable.

For the Hotaru range we recommend the following light sources:

Marker: 95mm diameter, E27 48W G9, dimmable, 2700K, 2000hrs.
